- Union Départementale des Syndicats Confédérés de l'Algérois (UD) is the 1. name applied to the Confederation Generals du Travail (CGT) organization in the Department of Algiers.
- After the liberation of French North Africa in 1942, the CGT resumed its activities under the leadership of Pierre Fayet as Secretary General. Assisted by Roger Rouzeau, Raymond Mavarro, Marouf (fnu), and Andre Courounet, prominent union leaders and members of the Algerian Communist Party (ACP), Fayet instituted a systematic elimination of all leaders of unions whose ideas did not follow the party line. The following persons were not allowed to continue their union activities:
 - Bernon (fnu), the instigator of strikes against tankers in 1937, who had to resign his unionist activities in 1945 because of his refusal to join the ACP;
 - Kerrad (fnu), becretary of the Syndicat des Hospitaliers, released from the Executive Committee of the UD ostensibly for disciplinary reasons but in fact because he resigned from the ACP;
 - Crespo (fnu), Secretary of the Syndicat des Metaux, who was appointed by the Executive Committee in 1948 by action of the Party Congress but later released for expressing non-communist sentiments;
 - Beranger Bache, Secretary General of the Dockers' Union of Algiers, who was recently dismissed from the ACP and relieved of his functions with the UD.
- The Secretary General of the UD is Andre Courounet. The members of the 3. Executive Committee of the UD are the following.

Aroussi (fnu) Pierre Favet Dallemer (fnu) Billard (fnu) Guermoul (fnu) Andre Courounet: Liucci (fnu) Marouf (fnu) Salem Babou Boumedine (fnu) Raymond Navarro Sperat (fnu) Braham Moussa Aissou (fnu) Robles (fnu)
